The only problem is noise when the machine spins and that is the wife's fault cos a few years back she chucked in some mats, and when the machine began spinning, these mats crashed and banged against the drum! Like others the machine is used most days and is about 3 years old. In 4 years I've replaced the washer door seal 2X. It now needs to be replaced again. The tub has now failed. According to the certified Bosch service man the tub seal failed a long time ago and slowly came apart and the tub is leaking. Replacement of the tub and spinner assembly will cost 80% of the cost of a new washer. I have been exceedingly disappointed by this machine. After 3 years 4 months just outside warranty the drum bearing finally ceased up after being extremely noisy for 2 or 3 months. Also by this time the powder draw had stopped dispensing fabric softener. Bosch sent a qualified engineer to do that within a couple of days. Bosch service did not want to help despite the service agent saying that this was an unusual failure for such a young machine. LOGIXX 10 Washer pdf manual download. O In a Venn diagram, overlapping places are usually depicted by drawing on the set together as one place. It follows that no two items are exhibited within the group, and no two things will have precisely the same characteristics. With this process, one can only see a little part of the set. O With this method, if using an overlapping group, theres always 1 region thatsmissing from the group. For example, the set consists of the home and car, and the only means to draw them both as one region would be to exclude the car. Since the set also includes the dogs, the remaining items in the set do not need to be excluded. O The reason it is known as theomitting set is due to the simple fact that the group may comprise two regions, or more. The notion is that a number of the set items might have been drawn so as to supply more areas. For instance, the home and car may have been attracted as separate components, but this might have been done to create several areas. The intent of using this method is to create a large portion of the diagrams.

It follows that any two items that share many features will be present in the drawing, but they wont all be present in precisely the same part of the Venn diagram. This can be illustrated with an example. O in the event that you took the complete set of things, each of which shares many similarities, then youd have a very large part of the diagram. In addition, this can be illustrated with the example of the home and car. In the event the house and car were drawn individually, then you would have five regions. The number of regions generated when building a Venn diagram with three overlapping places is often times called theomitting set because it is created by omitting components from the group. By way of instance, the house and car may have been attracted as separate components, but this might have been done to make several areas.
